From logistics and mobility to medicine, bright futures in robotics start here.

Join us for a two-day, dual-track robotics research showcase with experts and community members from across U of T's robotics network. At the event, you will:

- hear from Robotics Institute experts about the latest AI-robotics research in mobility and manipulation
- attend keynote talks from international experts, including Michael Yip from University of California San Diego
- tour cutting-edge robotics research and teaching labs
- network with industry, faculty, students and alumni
